

Curating Opportunities.
Creating Wealth.

CEO'S Message

Happy New Year!

2022 brought unprecedented market volatility and economic uncertainty. Despite this, SDAX has moved from strength to strength, capitalizing on our expertise and financial ecosystem to bring the company to greater heights. And through our curation of digitalized real assets, we managed to generate up to 10% of steady returns for our investors.

During this time of uncertainty, I have been bullish on the prospects of China even though the mainstream media has been negative about China prior and after its 20th Party Congress in Oct 2022. The Hang Seng Index rallied more than 40% in the last 2 months, signalling market resilience despite declining global indices. The world cannot ignore the second biggest economy and we should not throw the giant out with the bath water. As former Singapore Foreign Minister George Yeo said recently in a forum, a multipolar world where the US and China coexist synergistically benefits the world.

Opportunities will thrive with the expected recession specifically in real estate and corporate assets in the next 12 months, and opportunities should be explored with real assets being undervalued in markets such as China. Before you invest, always be mindful of the 9 risk factors before deploying your funds.

With the global weather anomalies during this winter season - now more than ever each of us need to play our part in the environmental agenda driving towards a net zero target. Much has been said about ESG (environmental, social, governance), but we must act and expect corporations to take more comprehensive responsibility - using the power of our investment dollars and channel them towards ESG-centric projects.

Looking forward, both our investors and partners can capitalize on the growth opportunities in 2023. Stay tuned for our upcoming thought leadership content on ESG, Real Estate and other investment related online sessions for knowledge sharing with our SDAX community.

Finally, I'd like to take this opportunity to thank you for your continuous support, as we work to provide you with exciting listings and a value-added investment experience with SDAX.

Follow our Linkedin page for more events and content as we share exciting news on our upcoming activities!

Sincerely,

Raymond Poh

Chief Executive Officer
SDAX

